WORK HEALTH & SAFETY INFORMATION

These guidelines are of primary importance when you are not working on a task that requires compliance with their own safety procedures. Health and safety at work is both an individual and shared responsibility of all employees, workers, volunteers, exhibitors and contractors. Accident prevention is strongly emphasized. The reporting of hazardous conditions is a legislative requirement under the Work Health and Safety Act 2011 and all employees, workers, volunteers, exhibitors and service providers must ensure they are not exposed to dangers which could result in injury to themselves or others.

FIRST AID

WORKING AT HEIGHT

Falls from height are a major cause of work related fatalities and injuries in Australia and consequently have specific regulations relating to the management of the risk.

Working at height risks may be relevant when:

- Working with ladders
- Erecting signs or placing stock
- Hanging posters or signage
- Accessing high shelving
- During construction work

If there is a risk of a fall from any level, it must be managed and specific legal duties apply:

- Perform the task on the ground if possible or;
- Where possible a suitable work platform or platform style ladder must be used, that is 'Industrial' rated and not 'Domestic' (work place requirement).
- If higher than (2) two steps on a ladder you are required to provide the necessary Work Health & Safety documentation.
- Work platforms include mobile scaffold (correctly erected by licensed person), Elevating work platforms (EWP) (operation requires competency and log book pre-start completion daily), Forklift and man cage (licence and all operational requirements including daily pre-start check, wearing of seatbelt, cage rated and attached with locking pins) is required.
- Install a fall arrest system (harness) when using EWP / Man cage to limit the risk of injuries. Ensure rescue procedures are known.

NB: Step ladders should not be used unless 3 points of contact can be maintained at all times whilst carrying out a task. Otherwise employ the use of work platform. Portable Ladders must comply with AS/NZS: 1892: be in good condition, undamaged, Industrial rated (see sticker on side) and visually checked before each use.
